

Study Group Registration For
The Science of Childhood: Infant/Toddler ECE Study Group
Chicago IL, February – June, 2016

Participants attending the study groups at midday on the fourth Saturday of each month from February to June in Chicago will gain information directly from Magda Gerber’s student, Roseann Murphy and her colleague and mentee, Susan Bernstein as well as from published books, articles, academic journals, and PICT/RIE/Pikler videos. Roseann Murphy is former infant/toddler teacher and ECE program director, a child development specialist and ECE consultant for teachers working in home-based and center-based infant/toddler group care programs who has presented at the first International Infant Conference, NAEYC conferences, and college ECE conferences and Susan Bernstein is an experienced infant/toddler teacher, child development specialist and researcher.

Study group participants will deepen their knowledge about infant - toddler early education and care in group settings through learning about the theory and practice of education, observations of video recordings of infants and toddlers in group care and also the research at Malibou Infant Toddler / Little River School and Maplewood Child Development Center.
